

Exhibitions

Here Are 25 New York Gallery Shows That You Need to See This October

Another month of great gallery shows in New York.

Sarah Cascone, October 4, 2017

Alison Hall, Shroud III (2017). © Alison Hall.

8. “Alison Hall: unannounced” at TOTAH

In her labor-intensive paintings, made on a layered and sanded plaster surface and overlaid with intricate graphite patterns, Alison Hall explores ritual and repetition. She says she is inspired both by Giotto’s Scroveni Chapel, a masterpiece of the early Renaissance, and the necessity of hard work in rural Virginia, where she grew up.

183 Stanton Street, October 11–December 17, 2017; opening reception, 6:30 p.m.–8:30 p.m.